Northern Rivers Big Band.

NRBB plays a selection of the very best big band arrangements including the heirloom work of the Duke Ellington Orchestra, Count Basie, Glen Miller and Benny Goodman.

Talent abounds throughout this great band with their concerts combining the awesome sound only a big band can generate with sparkling individual solo interpretations of compositions every jazz fan has embedded in their DNA.

Royden Ainsworth will lead the band with a selection of those greats including 'It Don't Mean Thing by Duke Ellington, a set of tunes by Glen Miller including American Patrol, original New Orleans jazz with Muskat Ramble, One O'Clock Jump by Count Basie and many more.

The band features vocalists Laura Nobel and Kristian Keogh who will present some spine tingling jazz and blues numbers.

Laura's career spans work with leading musicians and bands in Lismore, Sydney and Melbourne.

Her latest album 'Since the Blues Caught My Eye' includes her own compositions.

Annual report from the AGM

I am happy to be able to report in a positive vein on the 2015/16 year. A snapshot shows our membership numbers holding reasonably steady and our financial health stable with small surpluses.

I must say straight away this is the result of very solid work by a very active and, perhaps above all, very dedicated committee.

The 3 executive members, Vice President Peter (Scrubby) Hurcombe, Secretary Marlene Downing, and Treasurer Doreen Parsons, have worked well beyond their statutory duties, usually first in and last out doing a prodigious amount of work behind the scenes as well as the up front occasions. There has been a lot of creative thinking as well because it is not enough to simply administer the club's affairs.

Invaluable backing from Annie Simonds, Jan Fawaz, Ben Law, Kim Drum, and Michel Voets rounded off the team.

Thank you all very much. This is how we are nurturing the club, gradually bringing it back to its rightful place in this community.

There have been some standout gigs this year, happily the good has offset the less well supported.

Experiments showed a band like The Blue Skillet Rovers attracted more members and visitors than an undeniably true to type jazz combo.

Entertainment is a competitive business nowadays and the club has some powerful competition both locally as well as the more obvious Gold Coast. The new committee will need to think carefully about what the club has to offer that is special and develop publicity to make use of that unique feature.

There will always be natural attrition in membership and the committee will continue to look at ways to replace members and most importantly attract visitors – often the saving grace for individual gigs.

There is no shortage of work ahead but there is good impetus available now to build on. My thanks to those members who are not standing for committee again and a warm welcome to those returning, thank you all

David Lintern

Our New Committee for 2017.

Onwards and upwards we go !
